Description of Defect, how it came to light, and possible consequences if ignored.	Due to the black coating (non-conductive copper sulfide) by a chemical reaction between the transmission gear oil and the terminal or flat spring of the back lamp switch, conduction failure may occur between the terminal and the flat spring, causing the backup light not to illuminate. The inoperative back lamp is not in conformity with the requirements of regulations in each market. Therefore, Subaru has decided to conduct a recall campaign. For all the affected vehicles, Subaru dealers will replace the back lamp switch with an improved part
