Subject	Replace the integrated braking system and hand over customer information.
Progress	Running
Affected Vehicle Identification Number (VIN)	List as below
Description of Defect, how it came to light, and possible consequences if ignored.	Tests have revealed that signal interference may occur in the brake system electronics in very rare cases. The affected vehicles will have diagnostics software installed that will generally detect such a malfunction well before it occurs. This diagnostic software then generates a specific message to a BMW partner in a timely manner and customer will be informed to come back for replacing the integrated brake system.
	In the highly unlikely case that the malfunction occurs despite the diagnostics software and/or an early warning, driver would be required to increase the operating force needed for braking. At the same time, other brake-control functions, such as ABS and dynamic stability control (DSC), would not be available. If this signal interference occurs, the customer will in any event be alerted prior to, or during, driving by the brake warning light flashing in the instrument cluster and by the display of a corresponding check control message on the central monitor.
	The brake system will then be in safe mode, which continues to provide a high level of safety. The statutory standards concerning braking power are still fulfilled; braking is possible at any time.
Remedial Action	Replace the integrated braking system
