Scheduled Route Service (Operated by the Hong Kong Society for Rehabilitation)

Scheduled Route Service is a peak hour fixed-route fixed-timetable service taking passengers with mobility disabilities to and from workplaces, schools, training centres and medical institutions. Its operating hours run from 6:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. and from 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. from Mondays to Saturdays (except public holidays), and from 12:00 noon to 2:00 p.m. on Saturdays (except public holidays).

Dial-a-Ride Service (Operated by the Hong Kong Society for Rehabilitation)

The service is arranged according to large group (five or more passengers) and small group (four or less passengers), depending on the number of passengers. Small group passengers with similar routes will be arranged to share a rehabus for efficient use of resources. Rehabus also provides Pooled Dial-a-Ride Service taking people with mobility disabilities (especially those living in boarding facilities and care homes) to and from schools, workshops and care homes. Two regular trips are provided per week, and passengers with similar routes will be pooled together to share a rehabus for efficient use of resources.

Feeder Service (Operated by the Kwoon Chung Inclusive and Accessible Transport Services Company Limited)

Feeder Service is a service operating on fixed routings and schedules for taking people with mobility disabilities to and from hospitals, clinics and railway stations. To promote Hong Kong as a barrier-free city, the Weekend Recreational Rehabus Service is also provided to enable people with mobility disabilities to visit local tourist attractions at weekends (i.e. Saturday or Sunday) and on public holidays.
